NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Further Light on the Norway & Western. Auburn, Me., June 9, 1909. To the Editor of Advertiser: I have recently received a marked copy of your valuable paper and read with interest the article from Sweden in regard to the projected railroad.

It is natural for man to want what he can't have, and it is so on this railroad question. To build a railroad requires first, capital, second, or perhaps third, line of importance, a country sufficiently rich in passengers and freight or great natural resources to make a road profitable.

Now stop a moment and think. The town of Norway had the greater part of the stock of the Norway Branch. Norway with aid of back town shipment in freight, besides all the passengers taking the train from Norway station, has never paid the town a dollar for investment.

Several of the rural towns show only a small increase (some a decrease) in population over a decade ago, and it seems as if it would be to run to Mars.

In future generations when the tale of agriculture turns to New England and farms and land now abandoned are again taken up; when the wealth of the soil must be moved in large quantities and the rural population is augmented, then your railroad will be possible, my more, you will have one.

Will the towns of Waterford, Sweden, Albany, Lovell and Stoneham dig down in their pockets and take the bonds of this railroad?

Don't do it gentlemen if you want to ever see your money again, or even the interest thereon.

Mr. Seitz knows something of the ways of the world and he is a man who would welcome advancement in his native state but he is not a man who is silent and let a lot of wild cat schemers bleed you when they ask you to finance a scheme so crazy that the bonds they would issue would be too thin to make May baskets.

If this is throwing twigs it is in a good cause. CHARLES S. BARTLETT.

Something New.

Lake Pennesseewassee has at last got some public accommodations. Heretofore there have been only private camps, built principally for the owner's use, though a few have been open occasionally when they did not wish to use them themselves. Alex MacLean has been the camping ground especially for the public. His camps are new and newly furnished. He has a motor boat and smaller craft. In short here is a place on Lake Pennesseewassee where one not owning a camp may hire one for the length of time he chooses.

A Large Attendance.

The Oxford conference of Congregational churches was held at Rumford Pt. on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Rev. A. S. Rideout and Mrs. George Holmes went from the village church and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Burton and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Holt from the Center church.

There was a large attendance and it proved to be a spirited and enthusiastic conference. The largest delegations were from Rumford Falls, Andover and Bethel. Some innovations were introduced which proved very helpful and interesting. The next conference will be held in October with Norway village church.

Price Webster's Comedy Co.

Manager Jones, of the Norway Opera House, has secured the Price Webster's Comedy Company for the Fair dates, Sept. 14, 15 and 16. This will be welcome news to our people as Mr. Webster is deservedly popular, and can be depended upon for always giving a good, respectable performance.

The old thorough-bred Concord coach which belonged to Sumner Davis and used to race between Norway and Harris has been sold to C. D. Tarbox of Harrison, who has had it repainted and repaired and will use it to carry out pleasure parties. There are but few of these coaches in use now, and with the new coat of paint it makes a fine looking turnout.

The ladies' aid of the Baptist church met last week at the home of Mrs. Dora Tower. Arrangements were made for the "dollar social" which will be held the last Friday in June. Each member of the Sunday school, ladies' aid or members of the parish who care to be requested to earn a dollar to be brought to the social and tell the manner in which the dollar is earned, in either prose or verse just as the "earner" desires. A pleasant social will be assured.

The Universalist Sunday school will observe its 75th Anniversary next Sunday. All the regular services of the day will have reference to it. The special service will be at four o'clock in the afternoon. There will be a historical address by the secretary of the school, Mrs. C. F. Ridlon. Old time songs will be sung and letters read from former officers and members of the school. The Paris Hill Sunday school will be present. An address will be given by Rev. C. A. Knickerbocker.

A little black dog, belonging to A. Yeaton on Alpine street, was run into Monday morning, and had his leg seriously cut and injured. He was a brave little fellow, and started for home on three legs holding up a fourth, but could go only a short distance before he had to lie down and rest. He had many sympathizers and his owners were telephoned for, but when a kind neighbor drove with him to take him home, it was found that the dog had found friends. He was one of the best physician's in town, having his wounds dressed. The neighbor waited and took him home.

The Browning Reading club met with Mrs. H. L. Libby, Monday evening, May 29th. "The Other Wise Man," by Henry Van Dyke was read by Myrtle Blackwood and Mrs. James Danforth. Officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

Pres.—Mrs. H. L. Libby.
V. Pres.—Miss E. F. Bicknell.
Sec. Treas.—Mrs. A. J. Stearns.
Com. on program.—Mrs. A. J. Stearns, Mrs. Mary Cole, Mrs. H. F. Andrews.

The hostess then served dainty refreshments. This was the last regular meeting for the season.

The next meeting of the Club will meet with Mrs. Emma Cullinan, June 24 at 2:30 o'clock.

Promenade this Thursday evening. Ice cream will be served during the evening.

The teachers of the Norway High school building held a croquet tournament at E. M. Thomas' croquet grounds, Tuesday afternoon.

E. E. Andrews has the foundation for his house on the corner of Main and Market streets put in, and work has commenced on the foundation of Mrs. A. F. Andrews' house on Main street nearly opposite Marston.

Warm and almost hot days prevail yet the nights are the other extreme. There have been frosts in several different places the past few nights. On the Oxford Plains it has been severe nipping nearly everything in its path.

VOLUME XL.

Exhibition at the High School.

A large number of friends and relatives of the pupils gathered at the High School building, Monday afternoon, for annual drawing exhibition with exercises in the different grades.

The exercises opened in Harriet Orah's room, grade 3, where the children sang songs from the First Reader of the New Educational Music Course, in a very pleasing way. The drawings were placed around the room and on exhibition. In this grade color work, proportions, beginning with pose and drawing from nature, had been introduced with fine success.

In the 4th grade, May Chaffin teacher, the scholars sang the more advanced songs in the First Educational Reader. The drawings on exhibition were similar in aim as the 3d grade with the addition of rudiments of perspective drawing.

The songs in the 5th grade, Helen Akers teacher, were from the Silver Song Series, No. 3. In this grade the beginning of two part music has been taken up in the key of G, F, A and B flat. A canon in unison entitled, "Snow so Fair," and "Autumn Leaves" from Beethoven were nicely rendered, each keeping his part finely. The drawings were for detail work done in water color, pastel, charcoal and pencil, also geometrical designs in relation to color.

The 6th and 7th grades, Alice Gammon and Melvinia Green teachers, met in room 7. In these grades, three part music, soprano, alto and tenor, and sight reading in all the keys have been studied, and the young people very sweetly sang, "Still is the Night" and "A Lullaby."

In the 6th grade pose-drawings have been a special feature. Madeline Andrews has done some fine specimens in this line. They also have done work in silhouette drawing, in sepias tinting and winter scenes and spring flowers in pastel, as well as cover designs with printing.

The 7th grade landscapes in water color have been studied and drawing in pastel, charcoal, pencil and wash drawings in India ink and sepia tints.

All assembled in room 9 where the 8th and 9th grade scholars sang. "God's Sentinels" by L. Gottschalk arranged from "The Last Hope" and "Soldiers' Chorus" from Gounod's "Faust" and others. In these grades four part music, soprano, alto, tenor and bass, has been studied this year and they were taught the recognition of musical effort through the sense of hearing and the reproduction of the same by the pupil. Attention has also been called to the voices quality, pronunciation and the interpretation of the sentiment expressed by the composer. They have also had written tests requiring written reproduction of phrases which were sung and dictated by the teacher; also with sight reading from Samuel W. Cole's "Songs without Words."

In these grades have been studied life drawing in charcoal, studies in proportion and form, talks on the antique, sketches from nature, the application of natural form to designs, wall paper designing. Marion Haskell's nature studies were especially good. The subjects being easily recognized. Marine views, Easter lilies and daffodils in pastel were good features of the 8th grade. The aim in teaching drawing in the schools is to train the eye and the hand so that the hand can express what the eye has seen in a true manner. The aim is not to make artists out of the pupils but to prepare them for careful observation and practical representation which will assist them in their life work.

In all grades tree study has been studied in relation to the different types of the evergreens and deciduous trees. The scholars in all grades have done fine work in their drawing and music. The music and drawing teacher, Annette Washburn, made the work interesting as well as helpful to the pupil and her work with the scholars the past year has been appreciated and a very successful term has closed.

We will give a list of a few of the scholars in each grade who did especially well in drawing:

Grade 3. Ruth Akers, John Sanborn, Adelbert Bicknell, Virginia Mizen, Roland McCormick, Cecil Tyler.

Grade 4. Archie Swift, Frances Bartlett, Della Bedard, Paul Brooks, Howard Evis, Eddie McKay.

Grade 5. Irene Locke, Clara Shepard, Christine Leavitt, Alfred Curtis, Gerald Millett.

Grade 6. Maguerite Welch, Richard Stiles, Philip Young.

Grade 7. Sarah True, Marion Gibson, Ena Bicknell, Harold Moore, Clayton Heath.

Veranda Club Notes.

The Veranda club was entertained Thursday afternoon June 3 at the home of Mrs. William Cole on Fair street. Sewing, refreshments consisting of fruit salad, assorted fancy cookies, tea, and assorted confectionery were served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Amy Cole.

The next meeting of the Club will meet with Mrs. Emma Cullinan, June 24 at 2:30 o'clock.

Promenade this Thursday evening. Ice cream will be served during the evening.

The teachers of the Norway High school building held a croquet tournament at E. M. Thomas' croquet grounds, Tuesday afternoon.

Shall We Have a Hospital?

What Norway and Paris need is a hospital for the care of sick people who are away from home. A good many people come here from away to work and if they are taken sick it is almost impossible to get any one to care for them in the two villages. Could not Norway and Paris join in establishing a hospital?

Failing in this it seems that some woman with a home but not as much ready money as she wants could establish a good business by having the doctors send her those patients she could care for better than in the boarding house where they are sometimes taken sick.

Again if there is no one so situated or fitted as to do this, could not a number of women and a few men in the two villages who are good nurses, while not graduate, professional nurses, who make good money going to their patients' homes and caring for them. Even more than we now employ for the same employment as anyone who has tried to find one unemployed in a short space of time can testify. Let us hear what the people think about a hospital, and if advisable to have one the best means to get one.

Baccalaureate.

There was a large attendance at the Universalist church last Sunday morning, the occasion being that of the baccalaureate services to the graduates of the High School. The church was tastefully trimmed and the school flags made a pretty display. The class marched in with Elden Hall acting as marshal.

Rev. M. C. Ward preached from the text, Prov. 2-3, "Hearken ear unto wisdom and apply thine heart to understanding."

This refers to the preparation for life worth while. Calling the completion of school a "commencement" first and then that study is but preparation for life. He spoke of the world's six greatest men, as in MacLaren named them, Homer, Socrates, Columbus, Capernicus, Luther and Moses.

He told of the confessions of men whose lives had been failures.

For success we need the qualities of humility, high ideals, concentration, work, determined persistence, self control and loyalty to principle. These are the things which incidentally form life. We need above all character in education, and education is idle that does not build character. Character is success.

The only great danger to you will be from within. Have only one fear, the fear of living to help others, to do good in the world.

The class stood for the concluding words. Mr. Ward commended the work of the class. Reminded the scholars of their debt to their parents and their duty to their country and to Christian civilization for free public education. The community providing the school has a right to expect much from you. The school comes close to you and gives you parting blessing. Make this motto yours. Do your best and trust God for the rest.

Imprisoned Neath a Rock.

Walter S. Buck is given to sinking into the ground and out of sight, rock. He does it so he can move and cultivate the earth unobstructed. Some years ago a rock rolled in on him and he was pinned in, but with help he got out with little injury. He then said it would never happen again. He would exercise more care, but the first day of this June he got caught the second time, and were it not for the bird man, Rodney Verrill, he would have staid in a long while. It was with great difficulty and exertion he was extricated. He would have had dug, and the rock that was on him. He was some lamed but escaped broken bones, and lives to tell the story.

DOING THEIR DUTY

Scores of Norway Residents Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidney's duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Urinary trouble, diabetes, Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

Norway people endorse our claim.

Mrs. Julian Brown, living on Danforth St., Norway, Me., says: "I suffered from rheumatism for more than five years. I have been treated by physicians, and have taken a great many remedies in an effort to find relief. About three months ago I was reading the testimonials of different persons who had used Doan's Kidney Pills and decided to give them a trial. I went to Stone's drug store, procured a supply and took them according to directions. I am now using my sixth box and am steadily improving. Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me what no treatment or remedy has previously accomplished and I feel that it will only be a short time before I am entirely cured. I cannot recommend this excellent remedy too highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and no other.

FRYBURG FIRE.

There was a large fire down a little way below the Maine Central R. R. station, which started Wednesday night. It made such headway that Thursday morning it was raging like fury with a heavy south wind behind it and the village fire bell was rung. They got up a crew, some went with horse and carriage and some on their bicycle running at a 2.40 rate for the fire. They soon got there and stopped it in a few minutes, just in time as it would soon have jumped the R. R. track and no knowing where it would have gone.

A Sylvan Service.

Jack-in-the-pulpit says to-day, He never can preach and much less pray. While the violet laughs and the lilies nod, And the daisy winds in the house of God, High in the belfry ringing out the bell, The columbine's chiming, while many a shout Is given to the music of the rose leaf blow. Thrush in the vestry, calm and sweet, The angelus sings in deepest retreat. All the passion is gone from the rebel heart, But that love which it does not bid depart. Jack-in-the-pulpit then to-day, You need not preach and must not pray: The communicants drink of the cup called Peace, 'Twere a curse now to bring them "Sorrow's" lease.

FRYBURG.

Mrs. Nancy H. Abbott.

Mrs. Nancy H. Abbott died at the home of her son, Walter B. Abbott, Auburn. She was born in Fryburg and was 52 years of age. She was the daughter of William and Caroline Wyman-Stevens. Mrs. Abbott has been a resident of Fryburg for many years. She is survived by three sons, J. Abbott, Walter B. Abbott and Arthur A. Abbott, all of Auburn.

Hon. W. W. Towle and family, who came for the Memorial days, have returned to Boston.

Fred Walker stopped over Sunday on his way to Bangor and visited his brother George at the old homestead.

Mrs. F. L. Mark has returned from New York to her Fryburg home on Elm street. Her mother is her guest for the summer months.

A session of probate court was held at the Argue Not, Tuesday, June 1. Among those in attendance were Judge George and David, presiding, Judge Walker of Bridgton, D. J. Clark, register, D. W. Stanley and F. A. Fox.

Jewett Haley died May 30th in Philadelphia, where he had made his home for several years with his daughter, Mrs. Etta Osgood. He was a resident of Fryburg for many years and his body was brought here on Wednesday, June 2d, for interment in the family lot at West Fryburg. Besides his daughter, who accompanied the body from Philadelphia, he leaves a son, Paris, in the west and a brother, Amos, of this village. Mr. Haley was 85 years of age.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies.

Deafness is caused by inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running ear, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; the cause of deafness is caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give you Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

NORTH BRIDGTON.

New Dormitory.

The fine new dormitory for the girls at Bridgton Academy is practically completed, and will be in readiness for dedication at Commencement. This building is to take the place of the one constructed in 1882, and burned in 1895.

It is built on the more modern plans and will accommodate 40 young ladies. There are parlors, reception rooms, a fine dining room, as well as other convenient apartments. The building is supplied with water from a spring a mile away and there will be an abundance for domestic use, and fire protection. It has a splendid sewer system.

This building, which will cost about $11,000, was erected by money contributed by the alumni, $8000 appropriated by the state and $1000 given by Melvin E. Ingalls of Cleveland, Ohio, who was formerly president of the Big Four Rail Road. Mr. Ingalls has been liberal in his contributions to the academy and among other things, presented the modern gymnasium which adorns the grounds.

WEST SUMMER.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Young of Hartford were visiting relatives Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crockett of Dixfield are visiting his people in the place.

Mrs. Lydia Barrett and son Stanley from Andover are in the place several days on business.

Sharon Robinson of East Sumner called Monday on H. Howe, an old associate, who was glad to see him.

Mrs. Clementine Abbott, who has been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Ella Abbott Biscoe, is stopping with her sister, Mrs. E. J. Howe.

Mrs. Bell Nickerson of Marston's Corner, Auburn, and daughter, Mrs. Arabella Anglin of Lynn, Mass., were calling on old neighbors and relatives here last week.

Memorial services were held Monday May 31, address by Rev. J. H. Little of South Paris. Dinner was served by the W. R. C. There was good music and recitations by the school children.

Address to the Graduating Class

Who Never Publicly Graduate.

We are sorry for the graduate who does not graduate. They miss an experience that they can never replace.

After they have taken their part in the public graduation before a crowd of admiring friends and the moment is near at hand when they will reach forth their hands and receive the diploma for which they have labored, lo, so many years, the time they have wished for, and dreamed of, and half dreaded—they pause a moment to listen to a few words of advice.

As we said in the beginning we pity
the one who never hears this bit of almost fatherly advice. We feel that the graduates should have one of these little orations to take with them a kind of a
"toaster-and-presentation," of the diplomas. Here is one that is a good one though the ADVERTISER man does not claim to be its author:

"Never before was the opportunity of the educated man so great as to-day.

Never before was there such a demand for the trained man, the man who can do a thing superbly well. At the door of every vocation is a sign out, 'Wanted
—a man.' No matter how many millions are out of employment, the whole world is hunting for a man who can do things as the trained man can do whoever he undertakes a little better than it has ever been done before. Everywhere it is the educated man, the man whose natural ability has been enlarged, enhanced one hundred fold by superior training, that is wanted.

"On all sides we see men with small minds, but who are well educated, pushing ahead of those who have greater capacities, but who are only half educated. A one-sided man, superbly trained, often gets the place when a man with many untrained or half-trained talents loses it. Never was such ignorance placed at such a disadvantage as to-day.

"While the opportunities awaiting the educated man, the college graduate, on his entrance into practical life were never before so great and so numerous as to-day, so also the dangers and temptations which beset him were never before so great, so numerous, so insidious. There is nothing else, perhaps, which the graduate needs to be cautioned against more than the money madness
which has seized the American people,
for nothing else is more fatal to the development of the higher, finer instincts
and nobler desires.

"Wealth with its multiplies a man's power so tremendously that everything gravitates toward it. A man's genius, art, what he stands for, is measured largely by how many dollars it will bring. 'How much can I get for my picture?' 'How much royalty for my book?'
'How much can I get out of my speciality my profession, my business?' How can I make the most money? or 'How can I get rich?' is the great interrogation of the century.

"How will the graduate answer this?
'The dollar stands out so strongly in all the undertakings of life that the ideal is often lowered or lost, the artistic suffers, the social wings are weighed down with gold. The commercial spirit tends to drag everything down to its dead sordid level.' It is the subtle menace which threatens to poison the graduate's ambition. Whichever way you turn, the dollar-mark will swing into your vision. The money-god, which nearly everybody worships in some form or other, will tempt you on every hand.

"Never before was such pressure brought to bear on the graduate to sell his brains, to coin his ability into dollars, to prostitute his education as today.
The commercial prizes held up to him
are so dazzling, so astounding, that it takes a strong, vigorous character to resist their temptation, even when the one is one to do something which bears little relation to money making which speaks very loudly.

"The song of the money-siren to-day is so persistent, so entrancing, so overwhelming that it drives down the still small voice which bids one follow the call that runs in his blood, that is indicated in the very structure of his brain.

"Tens of thousands of young people
just out of school and college are now standing tip-toe on the threshold of active life, with high ideals and glorious visions, full of hope and big with promise, but many of them will very quickly
catch the money contagion; the fatal germ will spread through their whole natures, inoculating their ambition with its vicious virus, and, after a few years, their fair college vision will fade, their yearnings for something higher will gradually die and be replaced by material, sordid, selfish ideals.

"The most unfortunate day in a youth's career is that one on which his ideals begin to grow dim and his high standards begin to drop; that day on which is born in him the selfish, money-making germ, which so often warps and wrenches the whole nature out of its legitimate orbit.

"You will need to be constantly on your guard to resist the attack of this germ. After you graduate and go out into the world, powerful influences will be operative in your life, tending to deteriorate your standards, lower your ideals, and enfeeble you generally.

"When you plunge into the swim of things, you will be constantly thrown into contact with those of lower ideals, who are actuated only by sordid, selfish aims.
Then dies the man, the woman in you,
unless you are made of superior stuff.

"What a contrast that high and noble
thing which the college diploma stands for to that which many owners of the diploma stand for a quarter of a century later! It is often difficult to recognize any relationship between the two.

"American-Indian graduates who are so transformed by the inspiring light of the schools and colleges which are educating them that they are scarcely recognizable by their own tribes when they return home, very quickly begin to change under the deteriorating influences operating upon them when they leave college. They soon begin to shed their polish, their fine manners, their improved language,
and general culture; the Indian blanket replaces their modern dress, and they gradually drift back into their former barbarism. They become Indians again.

Augustus J. Knight.

The death of Augustus J. Knight, one of the oldest residents in Rumford, was caused at East Rumford, caused by a paralytic shock.

Mr. Knight had been in poor health for over a year. About a year ago he sustained a paralytic shock. He was about 78 years of age and had lived for many years on his farm at East Rumford.

He leaves three children, a daughter, Mrs. Cora Knight Clifford, wife of the well-known Methodist clergyman, H. C.
Clifford, and two sons, Fredland of Yarmouth and Charles of Turner.

Facial Massage.

Facial massage consists of the manipulation of flesh in such manner that the tissues and muscles are stimulated and the surface circulation increased,
so the ultimate effect strengthens and reinforces against the ravages of age and weather.

To accomplish these results both rubbing and kneading are necessary.
For the former movement the fingers must slip over the skin firmly and evenly, and at the same time must work the muscles below the surface.

Before beginning either process the face must be washed, preferably with warm water, that the pores will be in a receptive condition for the soothing agent that is applied. Generally cold cream is best, but if there is prejudice against it an astringent lotion or plain rose water may be substituted.

The principal object is to use some emollient to prevent the fingers from sticking and bruising the skin.

Whatever application is chosen must be rubbed in large quantities over the complexion, and then the skin is in condition to treat. The rotary movement is best. Throughout this treatment it must be remembered that the object is to smooth as well as to strengthen the flesh, also that under no conditions must the muscles be pulled down. As a rule the rotary motion is best, which is merely rubbing in circular fashion, making the upward sweep harder than the downward. Cheeks, chin, nose and temples require this stroke. The forehead should be smoothed if it is lined,
otherwise it too will take the rotary treatment. About the nose, rubbing is done up and down working into a rotary movement with the tips of two fingers
when the region about the eye is reached.

To prevent, or reduce a double chin,
both hands must be used at the same time, beginning at the point of the chin
and rubbing up hard toward either ear.
For the throat the circular movement is most effective. For this motion all the fingers of both hands are required, while the thumbs are used as braces, being placed, so they make the finger work stronger. It is only when "kneading" that the thumbs actually work.
Then they are needed to take up the flesh in large rolls, working and gently
pinching it.

It is well to begin massage in the cheeks, starting with a small circle that is increased to extend over the entire face. During this process the thumbs
may be placed under the jawbones, working up with a rotary motion until
the point under the eye is reached,
when only two fingers are required.
Continuing, the temples should be reached next.

From there work on the chin, and then rub hard, and always up, along the jawbones and under them to the ears.
The operation will take at least half an hour, and should be done sitting before a mirror. At the close there should be a distinct sensation of glow in the face, and bright color. Wiping in warm and then cold water is done.

The annual debate with Bridgton academy which was to take place at Bridgton last Friday night has been called off. A letter from Bridgton stating that one of their debating team has the measles and that there are about 20 cases there now. The grounds where the new boys' dormitory will be located has been surveyed and work will commence at once. John Calvin Stevens of Portland is the architect and the building will be an imposing one of brick.
Italians are to commence at once.

Its Swimming Time.

"Now, Willie, you know I told you not to go in swimming, and yet you have been in the water."

"I know it, ma, but Satan tempted me."

"And why did you not tell Satan to get behind you?"

"I did, and he kicked me in."

The marriage of Bessie Hamlin of South Waterford to George Hill of North
Bridgton is announced to take place,
June 16.

NASAL CATARRH.

Frank Kimball, Proprietor of the Noyes
Drug Store Sells the Great Remedy That Cured Mrs. Karberg.

Here is a very simple yet wholly sincere statement of a Michigan woman, who was cured by using Hyomei—the no
cure no pay remedy for catarrh, asthma,
hay fever, croup, coughs and colds.

"A bad case of catarrh was cured for me by the use of Hyomei. The trouble affected my head, nose and eyes, and was very annoying and disagreeable, and was cured, from the use of Hyomei, was very gratifying. Hyomei has from me a strong recommendation and endorsement."

Mrs. E. Karberg, 219 Kingsley St., Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 18, 1908.

Thousands of just such letters are in existence, and thousands more would be for the desire to avoid publicity.

If you have catarrh, bestir yourself, and drive it out of your system. Kill the germs. You can do that easily if you use Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mey).

It is a dry, antiseptic and very pleasant at the throat, inhaled, quickly relieves all forms of catarrhal inflammation, stops snuffles, hawking and blowing. The price for a complete outfit, including inhaler, is only $1.00 at Frank Kimball's, Prop. of the Noyes Drug Store.

Teachers to Cooperate

With Forest Service in Tree Study.
Teachers throughout the country have been invited by the United States Forester to cooperate with the Forest Service in an effort to obtain more definite knowledge of the characteristics of the most important forest trees of the United States. To do this it will be necessary to obtain a large number of volunteer observers who will collect material on the time of leafing, blossoming, and fruiting of the various kinds of forest trees. In his letter inviting the cooperation of the teachers, Forester Pinchot says:

"Knowledge of this kind is greatly needed and will be of value from the stand point both of education and of practical forestry. For educational purposes the results obtained for each species, averaged and presented graphically by means of colored charts, will be available to all who are interested in the subject, and particularly to schools. They will form virtual 'tree calendars,' and will be valuable aids to nature study.

"Children can readily be interested in the actual work of obtaining records. This should form an attractive outdoor feature of the school work that should serve to develop the faculty of accurate observation, and at the same time to promote an interest in forestry which may lead to a better appreciation of its aims and methods. It may also prove to be a profitable addition to botany courses for older students.

"A study of this kind will be of great value to practical forestry, since the proper treatment of forests depends partly upon a knowledge of these characteristics of trees. For example, the time of year at which a tree loses out and blossoms is one of the indications as to whether or not it is frost-hardy in a given region, and the length of time that a tree is in leaf influences the growth it is able to make during the season. Knowledge of the time when seeds of each species ripen in various localities is of great value to those who are collecting seeds, since seed often deteriorates if eaten by squirrels and birds if not gathered and stored as soon as ripe.

"Another result of this study will be a more intimate knowledge of climate as manifested by plant growth, for differences in climate are shown by plant life as well as by instruments, and a preliminary idea can thus be gained as to whether a given region is suited to a valuable tree which it is desired to introduce there.

"Many such examples could be given, but sufficient has been said to show that the results of these observations will be a real help to practical forestry, in addition to their general interest and educational value. Volunteers will later be supplied with publications and charts containing the information they help to gather, as a return for the services rendered."

On request, the Forest Service will be glad to send forms upon which to record data and a pamphlet containing full instructions as to the nature of the observations and how they are to be made.

A Wider Interest in Forestry.

To do this it will be necessary to obtain a large number of volunteer observers who will collect material on the time of leafing, blossoming, and fruiting of the various kinds of forest trees. Study of this kind will be of great value to practical forestry, since the proper treatment of forests depends partly upon a knowledge of these characteristics of trees, a knowledge which should be possessed by all who are interested in forestry, agriculture or both.

New Law for Spitters.

No person shall expectorate or spit on any public sidewalk, or public street crossing, or cross walk, or, except in receptacles provided for the purpose, upon the floor in any city or town, hall, in any court house or court room, in any factory, in any public library or museum, in any church or theatre, in any lecture of music hall, in any ferryboat or steamboat, in any railroad car, except a smoking car, in any street or inter-urban railway car, in any railroad or railway station, or waiting room, or on any sidewalk or platform connecting, and fringing, or in any other place where the public is assembled. Whoever violates any provision of this act shall be punished by a fine of not more than twenty dollars.

The new law relating to tuberculosis amends the old law so that hereafter cases of tuberculosis will not be notified to local boards of health, but instead cases of that disease must be reported to the state board.

A Good Hair-Food

Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, is a genuine hair-food. It feeds, nourishes, builds up, strengthens, invigorates. The hair grows more rapidly, keeps soft and smooth, and all dandruff disappears. Aid nature a little. Give your hair a good hair-food.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Formula with each bottle. Show it to your doctor. Ask him about it, then do as he says.

You need not hesitate about using this new Hair Vigor from any fear of its changing the color of your hair. The new Ayer's Hair Vigor prevents premature graying, but does not change the color of the hair even to the slightest degree.

Roscoe Staples of Waterville has purchased the farm known as the town farm of John B. Robinson of Oxford. He has engaged Horace Holmes of Oxford to do a real help to practical forestry, in addition to their general interest and educational value. Volunteers will later be supplied with publications and charts containing the information they help to gather, as a return for the services rendered."

The Grand Trunk Railway System with their new organization in Europe have opened a fine suite of offices at 17-19 Cockspur street, London, one of the best locations in the city. It is just opposite Pall Mall and the majority of the traffic from Westminster and the West End of London pass through this thoroughfare to Piccadilly, Oxford street and the commercial sections of the Metropolis. Canadian who visit London will find these offices complete in every way and the Company are desirous of having all visitors from the Colonies make their headquarters in London their rendezvous, where they can have their mail addressed, make appointments and do their correspondence. This is an innovation of the transportation lines of the Colonies and cannot but be taken advantage of by many overseas visitors to the Mother Country.

The Prize Letter.

Mrs. E. D. Curtis, assistant teacher in the Grammar school here, has been having a contest among the children in the O class in letter writing. Following is the letter considered the best in every way, written by Lillian Day, 10 years old:

West Paris, Me., May 25, 1909.
My DEAR Cousin, I hope I can look and see you this vacation. But I don't know as I can.
My school keeps four weeks longer after this week.
I suppose you still go to school now, don't you? When school closes we will have a long vacation. I wish you could come up and see the new barn. We have got some little lambs, and they are just as cunning as they can be.
What teaches your school?
Miss Clark and Mrs. Curtis are my teachers. I like them both very much. I will tell you the names of the books that I study: geography, reading, arithmetic, grammar and spelling. I hope to hear from you soon. I will close now with love. Good bye. From your loving cousin,
LILLIAN DAY.

BOLSTER'S MILLS.

A Local Sketch.

Said Clark to Scribner, "The train is too slow to get into Portland we want to go. We'll hire a man with an auto here, and then in Portland we'll surely find one."

An auto's the thing for me! "Then our journey will be a real treat. So glad your wife in the party will be. An added piece of comfort will be that we can go home with us."

My wife, as usual, at home will stay to care for the "speed" horse while I'm away. "She ever has saying and prudent been. So now I've the pleasure of speeding 'the tin'."

An auto's the thing for me! "Things don't work on the schedule plan; when they start again on the country run. Next morning proved fair and very bright, and soon the auto was speeding from sight. No longer with horses and brains we'll find. An auto or ship is all right for us."

"An auto's an uncertain thing." "For a moment I thought of the five their number increased since began the drive!" "The town clock pointed the hour of two!" "How hungry we are!"

When dinner and business at last were done "The night was over the new well along. 'Now, Scribner, 'Get home we must. This time we're going to 'get there' or bust!"

"If I have to go to the train." "But best it was, within ominous sound, 'So far from the city, what shall we do. All our skill will be to repair it anew."

"Oh, for my speed horse!" "Oh, the triumph of skill and many art. Which in Clark's and Scribner's, make-up form a part!" "The even of it, they make at twilight of day."

"Everyone said, 'How Scribner's hair's turned gray!'" "Hook, hook, hook, 'Darn an automobile! Next time we'll go afoot.'"

HOUSE BUILT IN A TREE.

Queer Residence of an American Living in Nicaragua.

Years ago a Louisiana planter, aptly named Wildeson, went to establish himself on the Rama river in Nicaragua, where he raises bananas and rubber trees with profit, says the Chicago News. A Mr. Drew who visited him on business describes his New York story house as literally built in a tree, a sturdy eboe tree, sixty-three feet from the ground.

To get up and down between the ground and the house an elevator is used, so constructed with block and tackle that the person using it raises himself or controls his descent by means of a rope.

There is also a chicken house suspended from a limb, into which the poultry is collected at night. After a day of free picking and strolling the feathered bipeds come of themselves to a roost to their roost.

A good snake story goes with the rest. Mr. Drew says, "A thing that struck me curiously was the sight of a twelve foot boa constrictor gliding about on the ground at the foot of the laborers' cabins, even entering them and in general making himself perfectly at home on the plantation."

"Nobody'd think of harming him," said the old man to me when I spoke to him about the big snake. "He's perfectly harmless to any one, and he keeps the place clear of mice and moles that eat the roots of my young banana and chocolate trees. But chickens! Never knew him to do such a thing. Still, while they're little I don't put temptation in his way, but keep them in a snake tight coop of wire netting."

Queer Chinese Customs.

A Chinaman who wears his spectacles in the presence of a guest or a social superior is held to be as rude as in this country we consider a man who fails to remove his hat when meeting women of his acquaintance. The Chinese do not beckon, as we do, with the palm of the hand turned up, the fingers curled and the thumb and index successively bending and straightening. They beckon with the fingers curled downward, sweeping the whole hand vigorously back and forth, as if they were beating a pancake batter with an invisible spoon.

Feeding Army Elephants.

Elephants in the Indian army are fed twice a day. When mealtime arrives they are drawn in line before a row of piles of food. Each animal's breakfast includes ten pounds of raw rice done up in five two-pound packages. The rice is wrapped in leaves and then tied with grass. At the command "Attention" each elephant raises its trunk, and a package is thrown into its capacious mouth. By the method of feeding not a single grain of rice is wasted.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Mrs. Laura Jane Plummer.

Mrs. Laura Jane Plummer, widow of Charles Plummer, and daughter of Samuel and Mehitable Smith, died, Wednesday, June 2, in her 78th year.

She was born in Massachusetts, Aug. 21, 1831, where she married and soon afterward moved to Waterford, where she lived many years, and where her large family of children were born and grew up to maturity.

Mrs. Plummer lived in Harrison about twenty years, and the last seven years lived with her daughter, Mrs. Augusta Young, where she died. She was a member of any church, but with her husband and family, affiliated with and contributed to the support of the Congregationalists.

Her husband was an honored veteran of Company D, 18th Maine Infantry in the Civil war. His death occurred in Harrison in 1894.

Mrs. Plummer is survived by the following members of her own family: A brother, Samuel O. Smith, and two sisters, Abbie L. and Annie E. Smith, of Harrison, and of a family of seven children: Mrs. Geo. H. Billings, Waterford; Mrs. Wm. Plummer, Minnewasskan, N. D.; Mrs. Augusta E. Young, Waterford; Nellie Plummer, Harrison; and Mrs. Percy Bailey of Portland. Also by four grandchildren: Mrs. Mark Grimes of West Medford, Mass.; Mrs. L. R. Rounds and Emmie and Branch of Young of Waterford, and two great grandchildren.

The funeral services were solemnized by Rev. G. W. Sias at the late residence, Interment in Elmvale cemetery.

Little Eva Hagood, whose recent illness of fever excited much friendly interest in her behalf, has recovered her usual health.

By a recent letter it is learned that the family of Charles D. Haskell, who left in April for the West are settled at Wiliston, N. D.

Percy Bailey and wife of Portland were in town, last week, and over Sunday, to attend the funeral of the mother of Mrs. Bailey.

Lewis Howard and several of his sons have been very ill with measles, but are now better. Other cases of the same disease are Porter Gilman and Ernest Abbott. The whooping cough among the children of the Mutchy school district is subsiding.

Some excellent farming is being done this week in the line of thorough tillage and preparation of ground for planting and sowing by the use of the Disc harrow and other modern cultivating implements. Great are these improved labor saving machines for better farm cultivation.

The annual reunion of the Sheela family will take place June 30th with J. R. Hall and daughter at this place. Previous to this year it has been held in August, but a change was made with the hope of thus accommodating a larger number and securing a full attendance of the relatives.

Recent arrivals at the Lake House: Charles Burbank, Lulu Burbank, W. A. Elitchook, Jr., H. Warren, Mrs. E. Warren, Mrs. Emma Benson, Boston; Mrs. G. E. Thompson, Boothbay Harbor; Emma S. Starbird, Boston; W. H. Morton, Portland; C. L. Fallaue, Massachusetts; T. H. Gage, Jr., Worcester; D. W. Stanley, Sebago Lake.

A celebration of Flag Day is to be Saturday, June 12, at Grange Hall, South Waterford, 2 p. m. The schools of the town are expected to be largely represented by teachers and pupils, and many citizens of the town will show their interest by their presence. It is designed to make it the most delightful holiday of the year. There will be plenty of music, and decorations, music and oratory and bright, happy children.

BUCKFIELD.

The Alerts of Buckfield won a game of ball Saturday from the Summers, score 26 to 6.

Found Dead.

The whole village was shocked on Tuesday at the news of the death of Samuel Lee York. Since the death of his mother and brother about a year ago, Mr. York had lived alone. On Sunday afternoon one of the neighbors saw and spoke with him. Later as Robert York, his nephew, made his usual call he found the door locked. Nothing was thought of this as Mr. York had spoken of visiting a sister at East Sumner and it was supposed he had gone there.

Not hearing from him there, his brother, Fred York, on Tuesday went to his house and found the door locked on the inside. Removing a window he made his way into the house to find his brother dead in bed. From the looks of the bed it seemed he had retired as usual on Sunday night and passed away in quiet sleep.
